Hasso Heybrock: Picture "stormy day" (2025)

€950.00

It is stormy again on the west coast of northern Germany. Although the weather is clear, sea mist and sand blown up by the wind create a diffuse lighting mood that makes concrete landscape structures disappear. We wander through this scenery and feel safe despite the force of nature. With its soft, open surfaces in delicately graduated nuances of blue and sand tones, "stormy day" gives the viewer the opportunity to immerse themselves in the mood described and embark on their own journey of thought. The very light and delicate blue tones of this almost monochrome work have a very calming effect and the almost formless painting style opens the perception into the boundless. The scratch marks and the related sand create a three-dimensional impression in a space without boundaries, perhaps combined with the association of floating.
