

José Bifano: Picture "Limestone. Textures of the Earth" (2023)

€800.00

I was inspired by the world of porous limestone and its organic textures. The artwork represents a highly porous limestone that harmoniously contrasts with the darkness of the background, creating a relief effect that enhances the complexity of the surface. The painting evokes the sensation of a portrait, an intimate image that reveals the secrets of the rock through its porosities and cavities, inviting the viewer to discover its original beauty, of organic essence, free from human manipulation. This artwork was created using my own technique, which uses toilet paper as a support. In its creation, I used acrylic paints, glue, toilet paper, and water.
