

Gary Westall: Picture "Weir Große Aue" (2022)

When I was on my way home from a painting excursion at Schnakenpohl, I drove over a bridge in Varlheide that crosses the great floodplain and I noticed the dust structure surrounded by a colorful landscape. The landscape irradiated by a beautiful blue sky. It was lunchtime and just already too hot to paint, so I took some photos and in the studio brought this mood and beautiful landscape on canvas. Oil on MDF - 30x40cm
