

Michael Krähmer: Picture "Rocks in the sea of fog" (2004)

€1,900.00

The picture is painted using the time-consuming resin oil glazing technique of the old masters. Transparent oil paint mixed with dissolved resin is glazed with a brush in many wafer-thin layers, creating shimmering, almost three-dimensional color spaces. The creation of such a painting takes up to a month. A view over an imaginary rocky landscape in the fog - a fantastic scene to let your mind wander into the distance... The oil painting is framed in a contrast grey anodized aluminium frame.
